

HCS Series

Horizontal Filter Water Separators

Filter water separators are the primary defense against fuel contamination by water and dirt. These housings contain both first-stage coalescer and second-stage separator cartridges with no internal moving parts to continuously remove solids and water contaminants from aviation fuels.

Facet filter water separators meet the most stringent military and commercial specifications, as well as specific requirements to be installed in refineries, bulk storage terminals, heliports or airports.